Lutheran Church Notes

DAKOTA CITY-SALEM
REV. C. R. LOWE.

The pastor wants to make a special appeal to the boys of the congregation to be at church next Sunday for he will speak to them of a thing that will be interesting to them.

The fear of God is wholesome. It is not a grievous thing but a delight. Many look upon a godly life as a grievous thing, but it isn't. It is a pleasure. It is grievous only when we rebel against it. "My yoke is easy," is a truth. Those who bear it the best know it is so. It is the service of the devil that is heavy and burdensome.

The fear of God is the world's greatest motive for uprightness and goodness. We need to have a reason for the things we do. There is no greater reason for a man trying to live right than that God wants him to. Our creator and provider has an indisputable right to require it at our hands. That a man be right in the sight of God has been the endeavor of the ages. And the fear, filial fear, of God is its own power. There is no stronger power in the world than love, and the highest of all is comprehended in what we know as the fear of God.

The fear of God has its blessing all through our life. For a man to live in the fear of God is a wonderful thing. To know we need not be in terror of him is truly a blessed thing. God is angry at sin. He does punish it and that severely. And to know we are not subjects of his anger but stand in his favor is a thing greatly to be wished. Sinners will some day give worlds if they had them if they could secure God's favor.

The fear of God has its fruits. Many want to measure its value in terms of material things. It can't be done. If the fruits of godliness were full granaries and full stock pens it would be but a money proposition. It is a matter of life, and its values are measured in terms of life. Love, joy, peace, and the like. These are not to be despised, and a man does not live in the real sense of the word till he has these. He may labor but not enjoy life.

The fear of God has the promise of eternal life. Thru it men may live in the presence of God and be happy forever. This is the consummation of all earthly things. This is the end to which we were created. This is the end to which God wrought in Christ. To this end ought men to live. "What shall it profit a man if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul." To fear God and keep his commandments, this is the whole duty of man.

SCHOOL NOTES.

By Clarence Linton.

The primary people are preparing for the school exhibit which will be held May 3.

Bird study is the important theme in the primary room at present.

The primary children are finishing their first little quilt for the Red Cross.

Marie Price was a visitor in the primary room Friday.

Last month the attendance record of the girls of the primary room was 75 per cent while that of the boys was 98 per cent. The girls are working for a better record this month.

The base ball game scheduled with South Sioux City for last Friday was cancelled until some later date on account of the parade in Sioux City.

The Junior Class play will be given Wednesday evening, April 24.

The Seniors are making plans concerning their play and other commencement events.

Most of the high school students took some of the teachers' examinations given at the court house Saturday.

The teachers were delightfully entertained at the Schmeid home for dinner Thursday evening.

The final eighth grade examinations will be given May 9 and 10. The record of work thus far in daily work for the year indicates that only very hard work from now on until the end of the year will make it possible for several of the class to pass.

M. E. Church Notes.

F. J. AUCOCK, Pastor.

Next Sunday morning we will have the third of a series of war-time sermons. These sermons are being very well received. We would like to have a good attendance. Don't forget that the evening service is now held at 8 o'clock.

During this week the promise cards for the annual benevolences are being sent out. For three years in succession we have "gone over the top." We are anxious to do it again because the needs are greater than ever before. One difficulty has always presented itself. The amount is apportioned to us partly on the basis of membership. It only amounts to $4.25 per member. You can easily see that if in a family of six members the father only gives say $4.25, then the balance of $21.25 must be made up by others. We know there are some members and quite a number of young people who cannot meet their apportionment while others can and do pay much more. We are therefore trying a new system to meet these cases. On the promise card is a space for a monthly offering from May 1 to September 1. If these cards are returned at once the pastor will provide envelopes for these monthly amounts and some of the young people will collect as they become due. We feel sure that if we all pull together we can easily meet our apportionment. The church at last is organizing for special war-time activities. We are asked to make the month of May a special time in our churches and hold patriotic rallies. We are also asked to name a war committee in order that our activities may be well organized and not spasmodic. We are naming on that committee W. H. Orr, G. F. Broyhill, Paul Mason, Ada Sherman, and Miss E. Z. Engelen. The committee will be called together shortly to outline a definite war-time program.

FOOD CONTROL MEANS VICTORY

European Shortage Places Problem Before American Government—Farsighted Policy Adopted.

NEED 75,000,000 BU. WHEAT.

Food Administration Asks Aid of Every American in Gigantic Task of Feeding Millions.

It is the food problem over there that makes a food problem over here. If we wished to be supremely selfish—and supremely shortsighted—we could go on eating as much as we like and whatever we like, without much difficulty or interruption—at least, until the Germans came!

But we are not doing things in that selfish and suicidal way. We are trying to make a great common pool of all of our food, and all of the food of the allies, and all of the food we can get from South American and other neutrals, and dividing it up fairly among America, England, France, Belgium and Italy.

This does not mean that all of the people in the great pool are going to have the same ration, but means that we are trying to arrange to have enough for everybody, so that the soldiers—our soldiers and their soldiers—will be well fed, as they have to be to fight hard and continuously, and that the munitions workers and the workers in all the other necessary industries, and the men and women at home will all have enough to keep alive and well. It is absolutely necessary to do this if the war is to be won, and we are going to do it, but it means planning, working, arranging, co-operating, being careful, not wasting, saving.

And it means that each and every one of us has got to help.

Now, we have enough and more than enough food for ourselves, and the Government is going to see to it that we keep here at home a sufficient supply of every essential kind of food to support our people. But over there they simply have not enough. Lord Rhonda, the English food controller, recently cabled the American food administrator, that unless we can send the allies before the next European harvest 75,000,000 bushels of wheat in addition to what had been sent up to January 1 of this year he could not assure the people of the allies that they would have a sufficient supply of food to carry on the war.

He did not say anything in this cable about the other food necessary, but he has told of these needs in other cables—and by his actions in England. For example, his latest regulation compels a reduction of meat eating in the United Kingdom to a maximum of one pound per week per person, this pound including the bone and other waste parts in the meat as bought in the shop.

The allies must have more wheat, more meat, more fats, more dairy products, more sugar. Their harvests were very short—France had less than half her normal crop of wheat—and the available shipping is small in amount and constantly being lessened by submarines, so that it is now practically impossible to use any ships for the long voyage necessary to bring food from Australia and other remote markets. The food must come chiefly from America. In specific figures it is necessary for us to send to the allies 1,100,000 tons of foodstuffs a month. This is a great responsibility and a great problem. The food must be found, and also the ships to carry it. It is being done, but can only continue to be done by the help and full co-operation of all of us over our broad land. We must produce and save more.

To supply the wheat necessary until the next harvest, we must reduce our consumption by from one-fourth to one-third; we must cut down our usual average consumption of meats and fats by from 10 to 15 per cent, and dairy products by about 10 per cent.

Over there they are tightening their belts and doing everything they can. They are eating war bread; they are cutting down their sugar in England to two pounds per person per month, and in France and Italy to one pound—how much are you eating?—and they are using ration cards for most of the staples. We must meet sacrifice with sacrifice. If we don't, we are helping to lose the war instead of helping to win it.

ed at once the pastor will provide envelopes for these monthly amounts and some of the young people will collect as they become due. We feel sure that if we all pull together we can easily meet our apportionment. The church at last is organizing for special war-time activities. We are asked to make the month of May a special time in our churches and hold patriotic rallies. We are also asked to name a war committee in order that our activities may be well organized and not spasmodic. We are naming on that committee W. H. Orr, G. F. Broyhill, Paul Mason, Ada Sherman, and Miss E. Z. Engelen. The committee will be called together shortly to outline a definite war-time program.
